

SUPRADO

BEST PRACTICES • TANK MIXING

Quali-Pro is excited about the continued efficacy and great results Golf Course Superintendents are experiencing with Suprado in the management of annual bluegrass weevils. Quali-Pro invests significant resources in research and testing to evaluate compatible tank mix partners with Suprado, however, not all tank mix partners can be evaluated prior to Product Launch. In response to recent internal testing along with reports from the field, we are issuing this notice about potential compatibility mixing issues with QP Fosetyl-Al (and other Aluminum Tris type Products). Quali-Pro recommends to exercise caution, and conduct jar testing before mixing any of the Aluminum Tris family with Suprado. For additional information, please contact your Quali-Pro Representative.

Quali-Pro has discovered Quali-Pro Fosetyl-Al and/or Aluminum Tris products DO NOT TANK MIX with Suprado (see image). The two products create a substance which can lead to clogged sprayer screens and nozzles.

Ideally, Quali-Pro Suprado would be applied as a stand-alone product targeting ABW in the upcoming mid-season application for overlapping generation control with 0.1" of irrigation post-application to target larvae.

ABW Growth Stage	Overwinter	Adult Peak Migration	Hatch-Small Larvae (L1-L2) Inside Stems	Medium Larvae (L2.5-L3) Emergence from Stems	Large Larvae (L4-L5) Feeding on Crowns/ Damage	As needed: 2nd Generation Adults/ Overlapping growth stages
Plant Phenology	Forsythia Full Bloom	Forsythia 1/2 gold: 1/2 green	Dogwood/ Redbud full bloom	Catawba Rhododendron full bloom
Program A		 [15]	Misc. diamides [28]		trichlorfon [1B], spinosad [5], or indoxacarb [22]	 [15]
Program B		Bifenthrin [3A] or Chlorpyrifos [1B]	 [15]		trichlorfon [1B], spinosad [5], or indoxacarb [22]	 [15]
